

The Mongolian Adventures Podcast Introduction

Each week we will publish the next episode of Season One of The Mongolian Adventures Podcast. As the episode goes live, we will also post a companion lesson plan on our website (mongolianadventurespodcast.com). The lesson plans are created with a target audience of K-5 students in mind. However, the topics and activities can be adjusted for other age groups as necessary.

The lesson plans include time for students to listen to that week's episode. If you would rather have the students listen before class, you can simply allow more time for the response activities and discussions.

The lesson plan format will include the following:

- Skills: a brief list of the skills that will be covered by the lesson
- Students will be able to...: a section detailing the learning goals for the lesson
- Lesson: Lessons are formatted assuming a 40 minute period of time. This of course could be shortened or lengthened as fits best in your classroom and for your learners.
- Links + Extension activities: In this section you will find links to any necessary lesson materials, songs, videos and websites. It also includes ideas for extending the lesson outside of the classroom and opportunities for interdisciplinary teaching.

If you utilize the lesson plans in your classroom, please take pictures and share them with us at mongolian.adventures.podcast@gmail.com. We would love to see how you utilize the podcast with your students, their creations in response to the story and what did or didn't work with your learners.
